Dear Sirs

Ann Patricia Dickson and Alan John Dickson
Bradford & Bingley Building Society
Account No. 97A.662243.F

Thank you for your letter of 14th July the contents of which we note.

We do not accept that any stale-mate has been arrived at in any of the proceedings in which we have been involved on behalf of the Bradford & Bingley Building Society although it is true to say that the matter on its initial hearing was adjourned and it is ultimately to be heard before a Chancery Judge with an estimate of one full day having been allowed.

Perhaps, as an observation on our own behalf, we could draw your attention to the fact that a number of Solicitors have been retained by your client throughout the conduct of this matter.

As far as our clients are concerned this matter is to be pursued to a trial which we would anticipate would probably take place this year.

We note the offer contained in your letter, details of which have been forwarded to our client. However, you will appreciate that the offer is unlikely to be taken seriously in view of the contents of our letter to you of 21st June when you were informed that the redemption figure then stood at almost £70,000.
