- 1 Document 60 page 44 computer printout of account to March 31 1985
- 2 Document 59 page 45 computer printout of arrears from 1 Aug 1983 to 31 July 1984.

1 Evidence outlined earlier in this report indicates that no account record existed post 1982. This evidence combined with the anomalies listed below point overwhelmingly to fraud.

2 Document 1 is purported to be a copy of a genuine MBS end of period printout up to 31 March 1985 if authentic the capital for interest would have been £23,239.11 and not the closing balance of £25,149.93. It is obvious that the interest calculated from the closing balance (fiscal gross £4,212.61) cannot be applicable to this period.

3 Mrs Dickson's account with MBS started on Aug 1st 1980 with a term of 20 years the first repayment due on Aug 24th 1980.

This document is not formally dated however as it carries the exact alleged balance of £25,149.93. It is evident that B&B purports it to be from Aug 1st 1984 to March 31st 1985.

This being the case the remaining term of Mrs. Dickson's account would have been 15 years and 4 months at that point in time.

However this document states the remaining term to be 20 years and 7 months.

6. No claim has ever been made that the term of this account had been extended. If B&B were to make such a claim it would mean this mortgage was for a period of 25 years and 3 months.

7. The arrears outstanding are recorded as £1,520.00 which is incompatible with a repayment figure of £264.00 per month.

At March 31st 1985 the arrears outstanding on this financial statement, assuming no payments had been made in the period commencing Aug 1st 1984, would have been £2,112.00 (8 payments @ £264.00).

As there are no originals available it is for B&B to show them to be reliable. From an accounting point of view I consider this impossible.

Both attachments 1 and 2 need to be considered in the following context:
MBS computerised their accounts from 1 August 1982 (therefore there should be three account summaries, and three arrears summaries. The fact that we have two copies from two different periods implies that at least one copy of each printout was produced at the end of each financial period by MBS which suggests a total of twelve documents supposedly existed on 31 May 1985.

B&B's current position on this matter is that after transferring the data computer to computer MBS destroyed their records. By MBS they are inferring that Mr. Laurie destroyed the records being the only full time employee and the secretary of the society. However they also claim that he has no particular recollection of this event.

MBS had over 600 live files at the time of the transfer which suggests that over 1200 original and copies safely filed away in their respective client files. The same number of documents in relation to attachment 2 must also have been within those files.

For the final period to 31 March 1985 it is implied that the same routine was followed. Mr. Laurie after producing the printouts photocopied them and proceeded to destroy all the originals, but only after transferring all the data onto B&B's computer system. Their evidence also implies that he then extracted all the originals and copies from their respective files and destroyed them also.

This mass destruction, it seems, did not involve any accounts records that were not computerised. Fortunately for B&B Mr. Laurie overlooked the two copies attached. On the balance of probabilities and the weight of evidence contained in this report I suggest that the following theory of this case is the most probable.

Following a dispute over a further advance being paid to Mrs. Dickson's solicitor, and Mr. Laurie's involvement with that solicitor, Mr. Laurie found himself in no position to take any action against Mrs. Dickson. This would account for Mrs. Dickson being able to not make any repayments to that society with impunity.

In June 1982 the solicitor Mr Capper was imprisoned thereby worsening Mr. Laurie's position.

From July 1982 MBS was to computerise their accounts I believe that Mr Laurie simply did not load Mrs. Dickson's file into the computer. This would account for there being no authentic printouts.

B&B did not discover that they did not have a file for this account until compiling their end of year accounts and went to get Mrs. Dickson's version of events. This would account for there being no letters from B&B informing her that she had an account with them at the time of the transfer, and no letters regarding any arrears for the nine months she had supposedly had an account with them.

In this context a fair estimate of Mrs. Dickson's indebtedness to the society does not seem to me to be unreasonable had she accepted it. When the amount was questioned a set of figures showing how the debt had got to the said amount would not have seemed a bridge too far, assuming it was accepted.

Mrs. Dickson could not have known exactly what had happened and argued that her solicitor had not paid her what was due to her. B&B were happy for her to continue with that defence and time and litigation rolled on, for ten years.

In 1996 Mrs. Dickson's then solicitor began to question the lack of documents, however he did not have sufficient Knowledge of the complex issues within the account documents B&B had disclosed. A barrister's opinion was obtained which was negative and Mrs. Dickson's legal aid was withdrawn. She continued as best she could but B&B applied to strike out her defence claiming it to be vexatious. It was no more vexatious in 1996 than it was in 1987. To date she has been denied a trial.

Attachment 1 is a printout of two separate accounts which are purported to have been transferred from MBS at the same time in March 1985. The accounts are in the name of Mrs Dickson and Mrs Brown respectively.

This document shows, by comparison, that Mrs Dickson's account has significant irregularities. It appears to have been manipulated in order to arrive at a previously set objective, whereas Mrs Brown's account conforms to a logical format.

The irregularities to Mrs Dickson's account are;

- On the same day, 31 March 1985, Mrs Dickson is overdrawn (ODR) £25,149.93, then credited with a repayment (REP) £25,149.93 and then finally advanced (ADV) £25,149.93. These transactions are not present on Mrs. Brown's account.
- As of December 31 1985, Mrs. Dickson's arrears account is recorded to be in advance (ADV) £23,367.53. This would mean that she would not be required to make any payments for approximately 19 years before falling into arrears. Clearly an error that would need to be rectified.

The arrears advance figure is caused directly by the sinister entries made on 31 March 1985. It is my conclusion that the entries made on that date were an attempt to incorporate an advance of £25,149.93 into the B&B accounts system when in reality no advance was made and no balance transferred.

Attachments 2, 3, and 4 are included to illustrate further the irregularities in the documental evidence relating to these transactions. Each document uses a different terminology for the same entry;

3. Document 65 page 55, List of fines for both society's.

The irregular transactions dated March 31st 1985 (see appendix 9) inadvertently created a situation where the account had an arrears advance of £23,367.53 as at 31-December 1986.

Clearly this state of affairs had to be rectified and B&B applied a series of arrears increases dated April 2nd 1985. Evidence of this false accounting is obvious:

- If this account had had an arrears balance of £23,367.53 in advance as stated in attachment 1 then B&B would not have questioned the account with Mrs. Dickson in Dec 1985.
- The arrears in advance of £23,367.53 as of Jan 1st 1986 conflict massively with the attachment 2 statement of arrears figure of £1,782.40 produce by the B&B
- The arrears increases applied on April 2nd 1986 totaled £23,376.93. In fact the arrears in advance which they sought to rectify was £23,367.53, the 6 & 7 being reversed thereby producing an error of £9.40 and so on June 5th 1986 there was a further adjustment to the arrears of £9.40. A basic error but importantly, a human and not a computer error, which reinforces the evidence of manipulation.
- The most alarming error of all is that the arrears increases only address the arrears in advance caused at the creation of this false account. It does not recognize that arrears would have been growing for the period between April and December 1985. A clear indication of false accounting.
- On 20 June 1987 in attachment 1 are a further two unusual entries; firstly in the debit column a transfer of £1,250 out of the account. This was monies paid into the account in 1981, which were removed simply because Mrs. Dickson said she had not made these repayments. It has been suggested that these repayments were made by Mr. Capper to Mr. Laurie in order to contain the perusing problem.
- Removing this sum would of course directly affect the arrears balance and so a further arrears reduction of the same amount was applied. Of course, it is of no concern who made those payments, or why they were made, B&B had no right to remove them from the account.

- There are two further most unusual entries to be considered. On 10 Oct 1987, £19997.80 has been credited to the account and the same figure applied as an arrears increase so as not to alter the arrears balance. It is claimed that this credit was fines recredited to the account that had been charged by MBS between 1982 and 1984.
- Attachment 3 is a list of fines produced by B&B in order to offer some explanation for the above credit. A list of fines B&B claim that MBS had charged to the account and a list of fines that they themselves would have charged had they had control of this account at that time. Why B&B should feel obliged to credit the account with this amount is a matter of conjecture, more interesting is the fact that although the figures to the right are substantially less than those to the left they have been calculated in the same way.
- These figures need to be contemplated carefully. The figures to the top left up to 9.7.81 are not contested and there is a MBS record of these. It is notable that the 74.75 applied for the period 14 Feb 81 to 5 May 81 is greater than the 63.74 for the period 5 March 81 to 9 July 81 this is due to the fact that the first period is for 80 days and the second period is only for 64 days notwithstanding the fact that the arrears figure was greater. MBS and Mr. Laurie in particular charged no more fines after 9 July 1981.
- From 1 Aug 1983 to 31 July 1984 the list of fines simply grows progressively regardless of the amount of days in the period this is most notable in the final two entries with a period of only 18 days in which the arrears would not have grown but a further fine of £273.90 has been applied. B&B cannot deny that the figures to the right are their own calculations but offer no explanation as to how they were arrived at but they follow the same illogical format and the same formula has been applied as to those on the left. It would be difficult for B&B to demonstrate that nearly all of the figures in this document are of their making.
